Miners File Reply To FDR Work Edict; Want Agreement

Ask For Renewal of Collective Bargaining With Mine Operators; Charge Labor Board Has Prejudged The Union's Case

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, April 30.—Soft coal miners today told President Roosevelt, in reply to his back-to-work order, that they "want an agreement," and want to work, and asked a renewal of collective bargaining with the mine operators. Their counter-proposal, made in a telegram to the President, reiterated the miners' charge that the War Labor board had prejudged the miners' case.

A return to collective bargaining at this late date, in the opinion of union executives, would not prevent a work stoppage in the soft coal mines at midnight tonight, the expiration time of the extended contract, unless the contract is further extended.

John L. Lewis, UMW president, made public the reply after a session of the international policy committee of the union. Lewis handed newsmen the text of the committee's message to the President without comment, and declined to answer questions.

Several union district presidents who are members of the policy committee and who were interviewed after the meeting said the telegram meant that in the absence of an agreement there would be a voluntary stoppage of work in the mines at midnight tonight when the present extended contract expires.

Any "walkout" would affect approximately 450,000 soft coal miners in the Appalachian joint conference. The UMW, which seeks a $2-a-day wage increase among other demands, told the president "the making of an agreement through a renewal of equity to all parties."

The action by the policy committee apparently put the next move in the wage dispute up to the White House. After almost seven weeks of deadlocked negotiations, the case was certified to the War Labor board for settlement and the WLB in turn had referred the matter to the president. Lewis had ignored requests by the WLB to name a UMW representative to its hearings and work stoppages, which the President called strikes, were reported from many parts of the Appalachian bituminous district.

NEW YORK, April 30.—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, called a meeting of his 300-man international policy committee today, presumably to decide what to do about the spreading work stoppages in the coal mines, and about President Roosevelt's back-to-work order.

Because of the policy committee meeting, the anthracite joint wage conference, which has been scheduled to meet at 10 a. m., moved the schedule up to 1:30. Conferees in the anthracite parley admitted yesterday that both sides in "general disagreement" on all issues involved.

The anthracite pact expires at midnight tonight, and UMW Secretary-Treasurer Thomas Kennedy advised all concerned:

"Without a contract—well, the answer is obvious."

Lewis has said repeatedly that "the miners will not trespass on mine property in the absence of a contract."

The anthracite miners involved work in Pennsylvania mines. Lewis replied "no comment" when asked about published reports that he intended to go to Pittsburgh to

WEARING OF STOCKINGS outside the theater has been forewarned for the duration by Ellen Taylor, New York chorus girl, in the interest of conserving critical materials. ## REDS PREDICT GREAT EVENTS

Look to Land Drive Which May Well "Decide Outcome of War"

(By Associated Press)
MOSCOW, April 30.—Soviet Russia's official government newspaper Izvestia said today the coming month would see the beginning of an intensive summer land campaign which may well decide the outcome of the war.

"Not many days separate us from big events," the newspaper asserted editorially. "This may be at the threshold of a decisive stage of our sacred war of liberation."

The pronouncement came as a violent air war mounted all along the front.

Izvestia's editorial recalled the Russian winter campaign had restored 480,000 square kilometers (185,328 square miles) to Russian control.

The press generally sounded a prophetic note that tremendous events were in the making and a significant air of expectancy pervaded Moscow.

The German high command reported that the Russians attacked strongly again yesterday on the eastern line of the Germans' Kutan defenses in the Caucasus, but were repulsed despite strong tank artillery support. German pilots were credited with 67 Soviet planes.

Nazis Report Offensive
(The German radio said last night the Russians had launched an offensive in the Kuban valley of the Caucasus but Russian communiques were silent on action in that area. The Russians generally have omitted mention of campaigns until they were under way for some time.)

(The Germans hold a narrow bridgehead on the Black sea coast and in the Taman peninsula across Kerch strait from the Crimea.)

The Germans were reported to be moving up reinforcements, munitions and supplies in all sectors, but Nazi train and truck communications were being struck heavy blows by the Red airman.

The destruction of 116 German planes in two days, west of Krasnodar in the Kuban valley, gives some insight into the terrific air war. Soviet fighter planes definitely hold superiority and are giving the German air force a mauling such as it has not had since the battle of Britain, it was declared.

OPA Revises Meat Ration Values, Effective Sunday Morning

VALUES BOOSTED ON BETTER CUTS

Action Taken to Turn Appetites To Other Selections

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 30.—The OPA today revised meat ration values, effective Sunday morning, to switch many American appetites from round steak and center pork chops to other cuts, especially spareribs, brains, tongues and pig knuckles. Some people will find more attractive on a point comparison.

Round steak (both beef and veal) and center pork roasts, sides of boneless ham steak and beef flank steaks also went up from 8 to 9 points per pound. Round tip beef roasts and veal sirloin or chops went up from 7 to 8 and veal leg roasts stepped up from 6 to 7.

Spareribs Down
Pork spareribs came down a point from 4 to 3 points per pound, necks and knuckles from 3 to 2, and most variety meats (brains, sweetbreads, etc.) were reduced a point per pound each. An exception was liver which was unchanged at 6 for beef and 8 for veal. Shank end ham, fresh or ready, was cut a point.

An oddity of the new schedule is that, in coupons, round steak becomes more expensive than porterhouse steak, although the latter usually costs about 13 cents per pound more in cash. Persons having more cash than coupons may choose porterhouse, T-bone, sirloin, club and rib steaks at their continuing rate of 8 points per pound (except 10 inch rib which is 7) instead of round steak at 9. End pork chops remain at 7, lamb loin chops at 8, lamb rib chops at 7, and ham butt roasts at 7.

Widely-rumored reductions in luncheon meats, however, failed to materialize. And despite contrary forecasts, beef hamburger did not increase, remaining at 5 points per pound.

The order was the first major change in the scale of meat rations since beef, veal, lamb, mutton and pork were put under rationing on March 29. Minor adjustments in sausage points were the only previous alterations.

The new decree made a few changes in canned fish and cooking oils, but cheese and butter remained at 8 points per pound; salad, margarine and shortening at 5; lard and cooking oils, however, were reduced from 6 to 5 points a pint (or pound).

Canned Fish Down
Canned sea mussels, which formerly were in a general category requiring 7 points per pound, were cut to 1. Caviar and fish roe came down, too, from 7 to 3 points on a pound basis.

The new point values will be applicable Sunday only to red E

CAN COLLECTION TO BEGIN MONDAY

Salem people were reminded today to have their tin cans ready for the city-wide collection starting next Monday morning.

First collections will be made on both sides of E. State st., from Ellsworth ave. to the city limits, then in the territory south of E. State and east of S. Ellsworth.

Service Director Frank Wilson, chairman of the tin can salvage committee, urged housewives to place their old cans on the curb lawn in front of their homes and to watch for announcements as to when city trucks likely would reach their section of town.

The cans must be properly prepared for salvage purposes by removing the top and bottom and flattening the entire can. Labels must be removed and the cans cleaned of food particles.

YANKS WITHSTAND GERMAN ATTACKS

Halt Three Hard Assaults And Then Drive Nazis Backward

BY ROGER GREENE

American infantry withstood three violent assaults by reinforced German troops and then smashed the Nazis back deeper into the hills of northern Tunisia, dispatches said today, while the British First Army beat off a series of counterattacks along the center of the 100-mile western barrier.

German defenses were clearly stiffening, marked by repeated stabs to jar the Allies off balance, but Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced that Allied troops edged forward on both wings of the front.

An Associated Press correspondent with the U. S. Army southwest of Mateur said the Americans captured an unidentified hill in bloody fighting northeast of Beja, crushing three Nazi counterattacks, but ran into difficulties in a battle at Djebel Tahent, 16 miles southeast of Mateur.

"The doughboys were finally pushed off two foothills south of the Djebel, which were so bald that the desperately fighting infantrymen could find no cover from sweeping artillery fire except occasional small boulders," the correspondent said.

A military spokesman declared, however, that the Nazis failed to crack U. S. lines south of the hill.

Allied headquarters said the Americans made "further local advances" in their push toward Bizerte, and announced that Lieut. Gen. K. A. N. Anderson's British First Army held all but one small section of its positions before the Tunis plain.

BLACKOUT IS MARRED HERE

Many Light Violations Are Reported In Salem Area

A large number of light violations marred Salem's participation in a generally successful Columbiana county blackout between 9:30 and 10 last night. Fire Chief Vincent Malloy, defense corps commander, admitted today.

Lights were left burning in at least 16 residences where the owners presumably went away and forgot to turn them out, and also in about eight downtown business houses.

The county-wide blackout, as a whole, was considered satisfactory by Atty. Lynn Riddle, Columbiana county defense chairman, and A. D. Seawright of Akron, district OGD official, and Don Parks, communications officer for the Ohio State Council of Defense, who inspected the defense setups here and elsewhere in the county yesterday.

Malloy said he did not have a report from the industrial plants which were required only to dim out.

The mobilization of the city's defense organizations was excellent, he added.

Air raid wardens who patrolled their various sectors found a number of homes with lights still burning after the first warning when street lights went out. Most of the residents when called upon by the warden to douse their lights explained that "we didn't hear the siren."

Sixteen homes were found where the occupants had gone away earlier in the evening, leaving one or more lights burning.

Someone erred at city hall, location of the defense center, and turned on the fire station lights a minute before the "All Clear."

In Lisbon, during the blackout, Chief Edward Baker attempted to drive the Lisbon police department's new cruiser and crashed into a parked car.

Malloy advised Salem residents that during future blackouts, the easiest way to follow the blackout schedule is to "turn off your lights when the street lights go out. Don't turn them on again until the street lights come back on."

HANSELL IS FIRST IN COUNTY TESTS

One Out of Five Buy Securities, Equalling Best Record Made In Any of 28 Counties In Area 1. With Headquarters In Cleveland

Salem has gone far over the top in the Second War Loan drive with purchases of government securities totaling $2,399,796 up to the close of business Thursday night.

This exceeds the quota of $2,111,000 by $288,796. When reports for Friday and Saturday are in, Chairman Ralph Hawley predicted today Salem's goal would be exceeded by $700,000.

Ratio of purchasers to Salem's population is one out of five people, the chairman reported, revealing how widespread the response has been to date. This equals the best record made in any of the 28 counties in Area 1, under the jurisdiction of the headquarters in Cleveland.

Robert A. Hively's Case Is Referred to U. S. District Attorney

Another Salem draftee is facing a possible prison sentence unless he changes his mind and gets into one of the armed services.

Draft board officials disclosed today that the case of Robert Arlan Hively, 21, of R. D. 1, Salem, had been referred to the district attorney's office for prosecution.

Hively, a student at Mount Union college, failed to report for induction here April 2, several days after he visited the board office and told clerks of the board that he wouldn't report for induction because fighting didn't agree with his belief.

Meanwhile, Marion A. Cox, 37-year-old Salem draftee who appealed for a chance to enter the armed service after being sentenced in Cleveland federal court to four years in prison, was expected to visit the Salem draft board office some time this afternoon to receive his induction papers.

Cox will be sent to Cleveland for induction since physical examinations are made there daily.

The Salem man's induction had been deferred several days, following his release by federal authorities, until an O. K. was received on his blood test, made locally.

SUSPEND LICENSE OF AKRON DRIVER

LISBON, April 30.—Samuel Lampson, 25, of Akron, indicted by the grand jury on a charge of involuntary manslaughter in the death of another Akron man, Otis Boyts, a passenger in his truck, was given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail and a fine of $150 and costs by Judge Joel H. Sharp yesterday after being found guilty.

A suspension of the defendant's driver's license for a 30-day period was ordered, however.

Suspension of the jail sentence and fine was recommended by Prosecutor Frank Springer, who pointed out that no criminal indictment had been shown by the defendant and that the driver had misjudged the speed of his own truck and the vehicle ahead before the crash occurred on the Lisbon road March 22.

NEWS WE LIKE TO READ

Clyde Farnsworth and George Tucker, the Associated Press war correspondents who described for readers back home the mass movement of war goods into Russia via the Persian Gulf northward by rail and truck to the Caspian sea, have won nomination for the year's best job of writing the news we like to read.

There is plenty of room for this kind of news—the serial story of a great nation's great war effort. Too often, the wartime emphasis has been misplaced on things going wrong at the expense of the things going right. The bitter and the sweet have not been permitted to mingle.

It is gratifying to know that United States war production has been projected from the factories in this country to a point where the Russians now can see it piling up in their warehouses and stock yards—gratifying because this is one of the things Americans set out to do. Now they are doing it—as advertised. There is no better news to read than that.

MISPLACED TORNADOES

Ohio's acquaintance with tornadoes is casual, but deeply respectful. The latest addition to the "big wind" legend, inscribed on the landscape in the northern part of the state Tuesday night, deepens the respect accordingly.

Those who have seen the power of a tornado, like those who have felt the fury of a storm on the ocean, never forget. There are other sights more awe-inspiring, perhaps, such as the eruption of a volcano, or a major earthquake. But no one spectacle—no single demonstration of natural force out of control—has been witnessed by so many persons. The "big wind" is universal.

Besides tornado belts, where wind havoc is a regular event of spring and fall the same as the coming and going of the leaves, misplaced tornadoes occur regularly. Ohio can depend on one turning up unexpectedly, which is not nearly so paradoxical as it sounds, every few years. While the one Tuesday night fell far short of the proportions of the Lorain tornado in 1924, Ohioans will be glad to settle the score with no further additions to their "big wind" legend for, say, another five years.

RUSSIA'S BREAK WITH POLAND

There is curious quickness among skeptics to find proof in friction between Russia and Poland's government-in-exile of their contention that the Russians intend to pay lone wolf in all international relations. But the skeptics will need stronger evidence than this to win their argument against believing in good faith.

Actually, what happened is that the Russian government chose the only possible way to defend itself against a calumny which, unchallenged, might be fatal to its reputation among the United Nations. When the Polish government-in-exile, taking its cue from Germany, charged Russia with slaughtering thousands of Polish prisoners, the Russian government promptly dismissed the Polish ambassador, the diplomatic method of showing displeasure. Someone has been telling lies, and someone has been listening. Russia has demanded a showdown. It is hard to see how this signifies that the Allies are falling apart, or that Russia is flaunting the "four freedoms."

If there is no room among the United Nations for calling to account when misrepresentations have been made, then the whole idea is a farce and might as well be abandoned right now.

ADMIRAL KING'S MOUTHFUL

The landlubber, not understanding the submarine or anything else nautical, frequently is guilty of a ludicrous mistake in his thinking about this particularly costly form of warfare.

He continues to believe, proof in two wars to the contrary notwithstanding, that something will be devised to eliminate the submarine menace. Nothing could be more misleading.

Eliminating the menace is not the aim of officials charged with responsibility for anti-submarine measures. They will be glad if, by another year of war, they can develop measures that will decrease the submarine menace.

In other words, the submarine has become a standard weapon, like the battleship, the bomber, the long-range gun and propaganda. It will not be eliminated, but there is still hope after almost losing two wars to Germany on the submarine issue that something may be developed to keep it at a disadvantage and give the Allies a wider margin of safety.

Admiral Ernest J. King probably said it all when he told the United States Chamber of Commerce at its annual convention, "Submarine sinking will not be wiped out until the end of the war, but we shall reduce the spread between sinkings and building and continue on the upgrade."

SPOTLIGHT ON KUBAN SECTOR

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

We may be getting close to the denouement of the Caucasian drama—Fuehrer Hitler's protracted and bloody effort to crack this gateway to the Russian oil on which he hoped to float to glory.

For days the Nazis and the Reds have been sparring for position in the Kuban sector where the boche hold a bridgehead on the Caucasian shore opposite the Crimea, as well as the important naval port of Novorossiisk. Hitler apparently has been hoping this might be his open sesame to the Caucasus if he could get an offensive under way. The Bolsheviks have been bent not only on spiking his drive but on kicking him out of his bridgehead altogether.

The all highest scheme—as your map will make clear—has been to use the Crimea as a spring-board from which he could fling an army across the narrow Kerch strait to his bridgehead. Then by coordinating this with an assault on the Reds in the Rostov sector a little to the north he might force the Russian line back and get somewhere. Even if he didn't push his way down the Caucasus, he still might ensure his hold on his bridgehead and Novorossiisk, thereby continuing to deprive the Muscovites of freedom of the important northern part of the Black sea.

The plan is daring, but has merits making it possible for Herr Hitler to say with the stage conjurer: "It's a good trick if I do it—and it's a good trick if I don't."

So the opposing forces have been stabbing and feinting at each other, and observers have noted that the advantage might lie with the side which could begin an offensive first. Now Berlin announces the Russians launched their expected "large scale attack" against the bridgehead early yesterday morning.

This may mean the Reds have beaten the Nazis to the punch. We shall see in due course. In any event, there are the makings of a fierce battle, for the zone involved is of vast strategic value in connection with control of the Black sea.

The spring mud is fast drying out on the Kuban delta, with the arrival of sunshine and warmer weather. The ground in the Crimea also has become firm enough to provide the Luftwaffe with bases from which to strike at the Russians on the mainland. Hundreds of bomber and fighter planes have been moved to the Crimea for use in the Caucasus.

The Hitlerites have reinforced their armies in the Kuban, and it's interesting to note that they are using a considerable number of Rumanian troops. Apparently Hitler is forced to conserve his own first line men, for he is taking a chance in using the Rumanians who have been thoroughly fed up with the bloody part assigned to them over a long period. However, it's the German idea to use other nationalities where possible for cannon fodder, as witness the manner in which the Italians have been sacrificed in Tunisia.

While the Nazis have put reinforcements onto the mainland, they are reported to be having an unhappy time protecting their supply lines across the Kerch strait. The Reds have flung additional air strength into the conflict and this has been raising hob with the German communications.

At this writing, the Kuban battle-field is the vital sector of the Russian front.

BATTLE CONTINUES ON CANCER

Women's Field Army Aiding in Campaign

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
DURING THE last month so far as women soldiers are concerned, there were not only the WAACS

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

and the WAVES and the Lady Marines, but also the Women's Field Army in the fight against cancer.

The most important weapon in this fight is education. Since women are preponderantly afflicted, almost exclusively afflicted in breast cancer and exclusively afflicted in womb cancer, it is fitting that a woman's field army should go into action.

"With your aid we shall be victorious" was the slogan of the campaign.

This slogan marks a change in our philosophy about the cancer problem. Until recently, the medical field knew comparatively little about the causes and cure of cancer. Because of this fact the public gradually adopted the attitude that cancer was a completely hopeless disease.

We were in the position of facing a frightened public that said, in effect, "Why don't you do something about this horrible situation that is causing 160,000 deaths annually and making cancer the second highest cause of death in the country?"

Advances Made

Today that situation really has changed to a surprising degree. Our fund of knowledge about all phases of cancer has been vastly increased. Laboratory workers have learned a number of things that cause cancer. Daring surgeons have devised successful new methods of attacking certain types of cancer previously considered incurable. Radiologists have made marked advances.

Education of the public, carried on consistently since 1936 by the Women's Field Army, has made cancer an acceptable subject of conversation. Until recently it was a topic politely ignored. Today it is commonly discussed and is handled frankly by the press, magazines and radio as a matter of vital interest to everyone.

So in their seventh annual campaign the American Association for the Control of Cancer can say to the public, in effect, "We have acted on your demand that further advances be made against cancer. Such advances have been made all along the line by surgeons, radio-physicists and research workers, and further advances may be looked for."

Three Methods of Radiating
The only three methods which have been found valuable in radiating cancer are: First, early diagnosis by submission of suspected tissue to microscopic examination; second, early surgery; and third, the X-ray and radium. Up to the present time any attempts to effect a cure by the use of hormones or serum are in the experimental stage and their use often causes fatal delay.

Anyone who faces the realities of life squarely, and does not try to trust ugly facts into the background of his mind, stands a good chance of never having a malignant cancer. It affects preponderantly people over the age of forty. The skin is the organ most frequently affected. That is, it is on the surface where you can see it early. The breast, the digestive tract and the womb are next in frequency. Recognize and treat it early. Don't waste time on serums and other measures which have no value.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

N. H. R.: What is the proper treatment of an umbilical hernia? Is surgery the only permanent cure?

Answer: Yes. Injection treatments which are used in other hernias are dangerous in this form.

J. G. R.: I would like to know what is labyrinthitis and how it affects one suffering from it. Is the effect any different on water than on land? What is the cure for it?

Answer: Labyrinthitis is an inflammation or irritation of the equilibrium apparatus of the ear. It is the thing that gets out of whack during seasickness, so it is decidedly worse on water than on land. The labyrinthitis that occurs in middle age, with chronic deafness, is manifested by dizziness and nausea. It should be treated by an ear specialist.

Washington Round-up

News and Views, Briefly On What's Going On In Capital

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 30. — The capital concentrated on both the labor and price fronts today with tonight's midnight deadline in the soft coal trade the focal point.

Eyes were on John Llewellyn Lewis, for it seemed strictly up to him whether Sunday will see the nation's soft coal industry still producing fuel into the fires of war production.

Pointing to the decision due from the United Mine Workers' national convention, the administration's labor-legislation artillery may have a Republican offer to shut it down if the industry is shut by a nationwide walkout tonight — and President Roosevelt's warning that all his wartime powers would be brought to bear on the coal front unless all strikes are stopped by 10 a. m. Saturday.

Touching indirectly on the same general problem were calls for stronger moves to provide mine labor indications new farm price controls might lead to stricter inflation control and joint U.S.-Mexican action to combat inflation south of the border.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) told reporters he was ready to back any "legitimate" proposal the President might make for additional authority to deal with the coal situation and said he would be willing to vote for a law to jail union leaders who call strikes in war industry. The senate decided yesterday to consider at its next session a measure to authorize government seizure of strikebound war production plants or mines.

Counts On Public Opinion

Taft said he felt confident public opinion would favor a law against strikes in war industries with "appropriate" enforcement powers.

Simultaneously, the senate small business committee disclosed war production Board Chairman Donald Nelson had suggested a new national policy governing production of war materials and metals which would provide mining labor by re-employing and training and "perhaps temporary military furloughs." The committee said Nelson's program followed "almost exactly" recommendations of its mining sub-committee, and carried the President's approval.

While the labor problem held center of the stage, the War Food Administration studied a report of the bureau of agricultural economics that farm product prices advanced nearly 2 per cent between mid-March and mid-April, accompanied by a sharp rise in the March farm income. Although federal farm officials said a seasonal price rise was to be expected at this time of year, the report raised the question of whether more rigid price control methods may be required if President Roosevelt's hold-the-line order against inflation is followed.

Inflation problems south of the border were termed responsible for a new deal between the United States and Mexico, the state department said. To combat price spiraling which has resulted from growing war material sales to this nation, Mexico's economic situation will be studied, starting tomorrow, by a joint committee composed of two experts from each country.

The daily oil-carrying capacity of the Texas-Illinois pipeline, now under construction, will equal the capacity of 1,430 average tank cars.

Texan, Injured With R.A.F., Now Production Line Fighter

DALLAS, Tex.—R. L. Templeton, a shy, sandy-haired young man from Wellington, Tex., no longer sits at the controls of his Wellington medium-bomber as it roars out over the English Channel carrying death and destruction to Axis Europe.

Some other keen-eyed young pilot has that job now.

Templeton isn't flying any longer—he can't. But he's back in Texas, still fighting and he's putting all his savvy and know-how into his job as an inspector on the final assembly lines at the Dallas plant of North American Aviation, Inc.

Fellow workers know the 22-year-old blue-eyed youth to be particularly thorough in his inspection of Texan combat trainers. Few of them, though, know his record in the devastating air war over Germany.

Back from England with a medical discharge from the R.A.F., Templeton admits he has a great deal of satisfaction knowing he has contributed to the destruction of the Nazi war machine.

He's reticent, however, when it comes to talking about more personal things—such as 16 raids over German industrial and seaport cities and a half dozen missions over Occupied France and Holland.

He started training as a bomber pilot and in March, 1942, left for England.

A month later he made his first raid over Germany—the destructive bombing of Rostock, the vital Baltic port from which Hitler was sending supplies to his armies on the Russian front.

During the next five months his bomber roared over Germany, blasted the Ruhr Valley and participated in the 1,000-plane raid on Cologne.

He says he wasn't scared on his first raid; he was too busy, "but when I got back to my base my hands started shaking and my knees seemed weak. But after that I was never bothered."

Templeton came through his bombing raids unscathed, but narrowly missed death one night while on furlough when the concussion of a German bomb blast blew him from his bed.

It was a routine flight in September, 1942, that ended his flying with R.A.F. He crashed, his leg was injured.

Before he came out of the hospital his brother, Pat Neff Templeton, was intercepted by Nazi fighters over the channel, had one engine shot out and was killed in the crash.

The rest of his family is in the war, too—to help end it as quickly as possible. His sister, Lois, is working on the production line at an aircraft factory; her husband, Lyle Scott, is in the Marine Corps. The oldest brother, John Templeton, is in a glider training school.

Templeton says he doesn't know when the war will end, but until the finish comes he says he is going to keep on hitting the production line as hard as he hit the battle fronts. And, according to the men turning out the planes that he inspects, that's plenty hard enough.

NEW METHOD MAKES CANNON BARRELS

WATERTOWN, Mass., April 30.—The Watertown arsenal, one of the nation's biggest big-gun production centers, today revealed some details of a revolutionary process for the centrifugal casting of cannon barrels, without which officers said the army would be "sadly deficient in artillery."

Col. John Mather, commanding officer of the ordnance plant which spreads over approximately 100 close-packed acres, told 40 newsmen after an official inspection of the new gun casting method that "there simply were not enough ordinary forging facilities in the country to have met army and navy requirements."

Actual production figures were held a military secret, but Colonel Mather reported the arsenal had had the centrifugal process "on a production basis" for the last two years.

The casting process was spectacular. Molten steel was poured amid a shower of whirling sparks into a hardened steel cast revolving at such a rate of speed that the red hot steel was spread layer on layer. The pouring and whirling continued until only a thin hollow, representing the center of gravity, was left. In half an hour a new gun barrel was ready to go on its way.

LOS ANGELES—The house of Mrs. Agnes W. Angle was robbed by a pair of identical twins whom she described to the police as being "quite handsome and wearing pork-pie hats." Mrs. Angle said she doubted seriously if she would be able to tell which of the identical twins actually robbed the bank.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT!

Government Lifts Restrictions On Re-roofing and Re-siding With Asbestos Shingles.

Special Ruling Is Made To Meet Critical War Problem

MANY HOME OWNERS have been postponing re-roofing and repairs to their homes because of their fear that only temporary materials would be available. Many others have obtained the impression that to have such work done would be contrary to the interest of winning the war.

If your home needs re-roofing, if the sidewalks need painting or repair, a special W. P. B. ruling just issued removes the restrictions on the use of asbestos shingles for this purpose. There is no longer any reason for you to postpone having this work done.

PRE-WAR QUALITY — — PRE-WAR PRICES

John-Manville Asbestos Shingles are manufactured to the same fireproof, durable quality standards as before the war. They are available at pre-war prices, too.

If your home needs painting or repair, we recommend J-M Asbestos Siding Shingles. They need no preservative treatment — are fireproof — permanent as stone — and will completely transform the appearance of your home. If you need a new roof, we recommend J-M Asbestos Roofing Shingles. They have the same desirable maintenance-free qualities.

Protect your home for today and for the future. We will be glad to show you samples of the new styles and new textures of these colorful shingles.

Long asbestos spinning fibre is an essential material in many war products. In mining asbestos for every ton of long asbestos fibre, many tons of shorter fibre must be produced. This shorter fibre must be utilized, and its principal use is in the manufacture of asbestos shingles. Restrictions were therefore lifted to increase the use of asbestos shingles and thereby insure an adequate supply of long asbestos fibre vitally needed for war production.

CLEVELAND, April 30—Juvenile vandals were blamed for a blaze that swept the lobby and office of the Imperial theater early today, causing damage estimated at $30,000.

Collection of Fat Lagging In Country

Ohio's collections of waste kitchen fats to be converted into glycerine for explosives and other war purposes is lagging 50 per cent behind quota, according to J. W. Janicki, assistant executive secretary for Ohio's salvage program.

Over a million pounds a month are needed from Ohio, 13,518 pounds from Columbiana county alone, to make up the 200,000,000 pounds of waste fats needed annually to replenish the war stocks of glycerine being depleted at the rate of more than 20,000,000 pounds a year, due to the loss of Pacific sources of fats and oils for this essential war chemical, it was pointed out.

"Glycerine is important not only in the manufacture of high explosives, but it is also used to coat and heat in the form of scores of medicinal and pharmaceutical preparations being used daily by the sick and wounded on every front where our forces are fighting," says Janicki.

Surveys indicate that while six out of every ten housewives are saving fats, only three are turning them in when a pound has been accumulated, the other tending to "hoard" until a large amount is on hand. Every housewife should save at least a tablespoon a day, strain it into a metal container and turn it in as soon as a pound is accumulated, the others tending to "hoard" until a large amount is on hand. ## Columbiana Takes Part In Blackout

COLUMBIANA, April 30—Columbiana's participation in the first all county blackout last night was reported by local officials to have been a complete success. This was the town's first blackout. All air raid wardens and junior wardens were on duty.

The annual concert sponsored by Columbiana Music Study club which opens National Music week, will be presented in the Presbyterian church at 7:30 p. m. Sunday. Music will be furnished by the school music department under the direction of Mrs. Jean Dowell. The music club will present two selections under the direction of Mrs. W. E. Clendenin, with Mrs. R. J. Barrow as accompanist. Members of the Music study club are asked to meet in the church basement promptly at 7 o'clock.

Plans have been completed for Columbiana's part in the county salvage campaign which will start Monday, according to an announcement by Chairman Harry Lundgren. City trucks will collect the tin cans. Only cans that have been properly prepared will be collected for the salvage. Cans must be washed, label removed and the ends removed and then pressed together. Silk hose, nylon or rayon hose for the campaign may be left at either Holloway's or Tidd's stores where boxes have been placed for them. Anyone having grease is asked to take it to their butcher who will pay them the fixed price and see that the grease is sent to the proper place. Anyone wishing further information may either call Harry Lundgren or Mrs. R. J. Esterly.

The return-to-work decision followed an order by the regional War Labor board and a declaration by Mayor Frank J. Lausche that he was prepared to "request the President of the United States to send troops if this strike continues much longer."

Walter J. McCarter, the system's general manager, said wage negotiations between the union and the city transit board would be resumed today.

The union seeks a wage scale of $1.65 an hour for street car motor-men and conductors, and $1.15 an hour for bus drivers, who operate alone. Street car men now receive 90¢ cents an hour and bus operators 97½ cents hourly.

Idleness of the system's 1,378 trolleys, trailers and buses failed to produce a marked increase in absenteeism at war plants, for officials surveyed at random generally had 90 per cent or more of their normal shifts on hand.

Many Cuyahoga county motorists—47 per cent have "B" or "C" ration books—even reported difficulty in finding hitch-hikers.

QUAKER MUSICIANS PLAY IN FESTIVAL

Ten or more students will be chosen from the Salem High school band to participate in the first annual spring music festival to be held at Mount Union college May 7, Chester M. Brautigam, band director, announced today.

Sponsored by the Mount Union college conservatory of music under the guidance of W. Frederic Miller, the festival is designed to encourage among music students everywhere continued interest in the art of music and to stimulate student participation in musical programs.

Planned by a conference of public school music supervisors at the college, the program will be divided into three parts and will include a choir of mixed voices, an instrumental group, and a band. Miss Mildred Howell of Sebring High school has been elected to direct the choral group and Earl Beach, music teacher at the Alliance High school and director of the Mount Union band, will have charge of the string players and the band.

ELI SHONBRUN DIES IN SING SING CHAIR

OSSENING, N. Y., April 30 — Eli Shonbrun, 35, met death last night in the dark, square arms of Sing Sing's electric chair carrying with him the memory of a last letter from brunette Madeline Webb, his self-professed "undying love" and convicted partner in crime.

He was followed into the death chamber by John Cullen, 45, the "forgotten man" in the case who had told prison officials there was "nobody" they should notify of his death.

These two and Madeline, a Stillwater, Okla., girl, were convicted of the strangulation murder 13 months ago of Mrs. Susan Flora Reich, wealthy Polish refugee, in a New York City hotel.

The Webb girl, who came to New York originally to make a name for herself in show business, was in her cell in nearby women's state prison at Bedford Hills, N. Y., when the end came for the chalky-faced Shonbrun. She is serving a life sentence.

A fourth defendant, Murray Hirsch, uncle of Shonbrun, turned state's evidence, and there has been no disposition of his case.

The contents of Madeline's letter were not disclosed. It was destroyed after the condemned man read it.

MINERS SAY THEY WANT AGREEMENT

Ask for Renewal of Collective Bargaining With Operators

be in the heart of the soft coal region of western Pennsylvania when the extended bituminous contract expires at midnight tonight.

Big Decision

WASHINGTON, April 30.—John L. Lewis, Iowa-born descendant of Welsh miners, today must make the biggest decision of a showdown-studded labor-leading career.

For the question of whether Saturday will see the nation's coal industry still shoveling fuel into the fires of war production seems strictly up to the head of the nation's 550,000 united mine workers in both the soft and hard coal fields.

President Roosevelt yesterday told Lewis that all strikes must stop by 10 a. m. Saturday or he would use all the power vested in him as President and as commander-in-chief of the army and navy to protect the national interest.

But the zero hour loomed even nearer than that. Climaxing a quarrel over renewing a key wage contract, a nationwide shutdown impends at midnight.—Lewis has said his mine workers "will not trespass" on company property thereafter. Unsanctioned walkouts already have taken nearly one-sixth of the affected 450,000 soft coal miners off the job and the rest reportedly are ready to follow the leaders' work stoppage call.

Contracts covering 100,000 anthracite workers also expire at midnight and Thomas Kennedy, UMW secretary-treasurer, replying to a question whether failure to reach an agreement would mean a work stoppage by those men said without amplification "the answer is obvious."

Lewis silently sent the President's telegraphed ultimatum on to the striking union locals—and the unofficial echo from the coal fields was that the miners were standing pat, leaving the decision up to their bushy-browed union boss.

Various Courses Open

Should the miners ignore the appeals from the President, the labor secretary, the War Labor board and other, and stop work at midnight, many courses seemed open to Mr. Roosevelt—varying from military picket lines to martial law—but none of them actually could force the men back to the mines.

However, on Capitol Hill the nation's lawmakers talked of passing a law which would send labor leaders to jail for calling wartime strikes affecting war production, as well as a measure authorizing government seizure of strike-bound mines and plants.

But all developments seemed due to await the President's deadline and Lewis' decision.

The deepening pre-deadline tension heard the name "dictator" added to Lewis' long list of appellations which have varied from messiah to mountebank during more than a decade of major labor developments. It came from Senator Connally (D. Texas), author of the seizure bill, and recalled the stormy crises of the labor leader's career.

Creator of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, and its first president, the stocky, beetle-browed Lewis stepped into the limelight long ago when he split the union movement to organize millions of workers outside the ranks of the American Federation of Labor.

During the turbulent thirties he was labor's strong man and seemed at the peak of his CIO power when he threw his support behind the Roosevelt campaign for re-election in 1936.

Ohio to Join Walkout

CLEVELAND, April 30.—Coal mine operators predicted today all of the state's 20,000 soft coal miners would join short y in a walkout which has halted operations at six Ohio shafts producing about 23,000 tons of coal daily.

The latest to close down was the Lorain Coal and Dock mine at Bridgeport. Ford Sampson, a mine operator's spokesman there, said the men struck without giving any reason in "violation of the extended contract agreed upon between miners and operators."

Industry executives declared that "nothing could stop" Ohio's remaining miners from quitting work soon. Miners generally refused to talk, but one who declined use of his name said Ohio miners left their jobs to "show the men in Pennsylvania that we're going along with them."

Pennsylvanians led by Pittsburgh, April 30.—President Roosevelt's back-to-work appeal to striking coal miners apparently went unheeded in western Pennsylvania today, as leaders of union locals reaffirmed their determination not to work until John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, gives the word.

After hearing the President's appeal read to them, unionists at two mines of the Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal company formally voted last night to remain idle. A bit later 1900 more of the company's workers quit. This left more than 40,000—about one-third of the state's soft coal miners—on strike and approximately 100 of its 1,600 bituminous mines closed.

There were no reports of any strikers returning to work.

F. A. Norman, president of a union local near Belle Vernon in the Fayette county coal and coke region said:

"If President Roosevelt came down to this patch himself and told these men to go back to work without an agreement, without a contract, without something in the way of an increase, they'd tell him: 'You go back and get an order from John L. Lewis. Then we'll go back to work.'"

"If these union members went back to work in defiance of their union rules, their union procedure and in defiance of the men they've elected as their leaders—that would be the end of the union."

"These men, here and all over the coal regions, built this union literally out of their own blood and their own sweat. It has taken them 50 years to do it. Surely this country can't expect them to destroy it now."

"Certainly there's a war on. Do you think we don't know it? One hundred and two of the fathers and sons of this mining community (it has 680 miners) in the armed forces, scattered all the way from the Pacific to North Africa, give us a pretty good idea that this is war."

Navy Recruiters Seek Waves, Spars

Will Be Stationed Here Tomorrow to Confer with Salem Women

When the WAVES and SPARS were first organized, Frank Knox, secretary of the Navy, said, "Never in history have American women been offered such a chance to serve their country. Never has there been such an urgent need for their service. This is a total war—a war in which every woman as well as every man must play a part."

The full import of this statement must be realized by the women of the United States. They must be made to realize the fact that the men now stationed ashore are needed for the most vital of combat duties and for areas where women cannot serve. As Knox says, American women have never been offered such a chance to serve their country, and to gain personally the benefits that are offered to a girl enlisting in the WAVES and SPARS.

The men stationed ashore will eventually be replaced almost entirely by women who in many cases will have to be trained in a various skill in order to supplant a sailor serving ashore. If they have a trade or skill they can upon completion of their indoctrination training be then rated as a petty officer receiving pay in accordance with their rating which may go as high as chief petty officer, who receives 126, plus maintenance, which is provided personnel who are stationed at an activity where there are no Navy barracks.

Upon her enlisting she also receives a $200 clothing allowance, which more than pays for the trim uniform, especially designed for the WAVES and SPARS by the famous stylist Mainbocher.

To better realize the significance of these pay grades a girl must accept the fact that if she was drawing the pay of an apprentice seaman, which is $50, she would have to hold a civilian job which would pay approximately $133 in order to come out at the end of the month with $50 clear, because that $50 paid to an apprentice seaman is clear. Postage is free, room and board are of course provided for, and there is no overhead.

Women between the ages of 20 and 35 inclusive and having at least two years of high school or business college will be eligible for the enlisted WAVE-SPAR program, while women between the ages of 20 to 49, inclusive and having a college degree or two years of college plus at least two years of actual business or professional experience will be eligible for officer training.

Three women from the Salem district who have recently been accepted are Jacqueline Van Hovel, 931 N. Madison ave., Jane Butler, R. F. D. 4 and Margaret Louise Stewart, 673 E. Third st. These young ladies will be called to active duty in the near future, reporting to one of the leading colleges set aside for this branch of service.

STEEL DEMAND HIGH

CLEVELAND, April 30.—Demand for steel for the third quarter of 1943 exceeded the supply by 6,000,000 tons and allocations to the 16 claimant agencies must be trimmed accordingly, says H. C. Batcheller, director of the War Production board's steel division.

Addressing open hearth and blast furnace engineers, Batcheller declared last night the war department would receive 14 per cent less carbon steel than it requested and the navy 20 per cent less.

"Similarly, the steel division has recommended a reduction of about 22 per cent in maritime commission requests for carbon steel, 32 per cent in the lend-lease administration requests, and 40 per cent in the office of defense transportation request."

TODAY IS DEADLINE FOR TRUCK REPORTS

Today is the last day for operators of three or more commercial vehicles—trucks, taxicabs, buses, etc.—to turn in operation reports for the first calendar quarter. Harry G. Boyd, district manager of the Office of Defense Transportation, pointed out today.

Reports should be made on forms prescribed by the ODT. These forms were mailed to all fleet operators at the time the Certificates of War Necessity were mailed last fall.

Operators in the Youngstown area who failed to receive their forms or who may have lost them may obtain additional copies from the Office of Defense Transportation, 907 Union National bank building, Youngstown.

The information required to fill in the forms can easily be obtained from the operating records which all fleet operators are required to maintain, Boyd said. The quarterly report is merely a compilation of some of this information on gasoline consumed, mileage operated, trips operated and loads carried.

Purpose in requiring this information is to learn the amount of mileage conservation being effected by the fleet operators.

Failure to turn in quarterly reports may be considered "good cause" for the suspension or revocation of an operator's certificate of War Necessity, Boyd warned.

The Youngstown district ODT office covers operations in the following counties: Mahoning, Trumbull and Columbiana in Ohio, and Lawrence and Mercer in Pennsylvania.

ORDER HOLLAND'S TROOPS INTERNED

Germans take Steps to Halt Wave of Anti-Nazi Activities

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, April 30.—German occupation authorities in the Netherlands have ordered internment of some 400,000 veterans of Holland's army to halt anti-German activity.

Officers and men alike, interned after Holland capitulated in May, 1940, to the Nazi war machine and later released on Adolf Hitler's orders, have been commanded to report at once for return to war prisoner camps, the Berlin radio announced last night.

The order was issued by Gen. Friedrich Christiansen, commander of German forces in Holland, who last May sent back to prison camps in Germany 2,000 Netherlands officers on charges they had sown hostility to Germany.

The Berlin broadcast said "the German military commander of the Netherlands pointed out that the fuhrer, when ordering the release of Dutch war prisoners, had naturally expected that they would refrain from anti-German activities."

"When it was seen that this was not always the case, officers were reinterned in 1942. This had been intended as a warning. Since this warning was ignored by some people, more drastic measures had to be taken.

"Former war prisoners who fail to report to the German authorities, as well as people who hide war prisoners, are threatened with drastic penalties."

From Dutch sources came word that hundreds, perhaps even thousands, of Dutch veterans had "gone cycling"—disappeared—in anticipation of the decree. With them had gone many students fearing conscription for labor service, it was said.

The Netherlands sources said that since the reinternment of the officers last year, anti-Nazi resistance had increased, with shooting of leading Dutch Nazis, sabotage and widespread passive non-cooperation.

that hundreds of personal articles found in the night club ruins might be identified and handed over to rightful heirs.

The task of Joseph Farrell, department property clerk, and Lieut. Francis G. Wilson is nearing completion.

Only 40 women's and 90 men's coats remain unidentified and unclaimed out of over 800 wraps found in the club cloak room. Only a few inexpensive pieces of jewelry taken from the victims' bodies are still in the hands of the department. All expensive rings and other fine jewelry have been given to relatives.

OHIO WPA TO QUIT BUSINESS TONIGHT

COLUMBUS, April 30—The Work projects administration, once one of Ohio's largest employers, quietly goes out of business at midnight tonight.

The federal agency that hit a peak of 278,000 on its rolls in October, 1938, operated today with 75 employees.

Sixty of these were working in nursery schools which will be taken over by the Federal Works Agency tomorrow. Fifteen were administrative employees completing liquidation of the agency which has spent an estimated $960,000,000 on construction work in the state since 1935.

Dr. Carl Watson, who has been Ohio administrator for the WPA since it took over its first project from the federal emergency relief agency in November, 1935, said he would retire to his farm near Findlay.

President Roosevelt late last year ordered liquidation of the WPA, asserting wartime employment increases had eliminated any need for the agency established to reduce unemployment and develop public construction projects.

A state WPA operations executive estimated that in handling virtually every kind of construction the WPA spent approximately $960,000,000 during the eight years it operated in Ohio.

FEW CHANGES SEEN IN POST-WAR HOMES

CHICAGO, April 30—Irving W. Clark, manager of the Westinghouse Electric Appliance division's home building department, declared today most of the new homes which will be built in the immediate post-war period will not be much different from those built just before the war.

"When the war ends, the crucial problem of all industry will be one of reconversion with minimum unemployment," Clark said in an address prepared for delivery to the Edison Electric Institute. "This means the manufacturer should get back into the production of things he was making when the clouds of war descended upon us."

"Tools, techniques, production lines, and tried materials can more easily be converted to these products than to wait for new tools, new techniques, new materials, new product developments, and the many other changes that entirely new products will require."

Passengers Marooned On Stalled Ferry Rescued

FAST LIVERPOOL, April 30—Fifteen passengers, including war industry workers, were rescued today after they had been marooned five hours on an Ohio river ferryboat which drifted from Georgetown, Pa., to Babb's Island, near here, when the engine of a towing launch stalled.

The ferry became unmanageable while attempting a crossing from Georgetown to Smith's Ferry, Pa., during a dense fog.

Has Nine In Service

FLINT, Mich., April 30—Of Mrs. John A. Deavers' 22 children nine are in the armed services and she is going to be made an honorary member of the Blue Star Mothers.

Word was received here today that the honorary membership has been recommended by the Blue Star Mothers' national president, Mrs. Thomas H. Alford of Little Rock, Ark.

All Mrs. Deavers' children were multiple births—eight sets of twins and two sets of triplets. She is 46 and has been married four times. Her present husband is a war plant worker here. Nine children have died.

Sees Five Wars

SAPULPA, Okla., April 30—"Aunt" Lizzie Dever has lived through four wars and is looking forward to the end of her fifth conflict.

Mrs. Devers, who will celebrate her 112th birthday tomorrow, has seen the Mexican, Civil, Spanish-American and first World wars open and close. Wars, she says, are due to pure curiosity.

Aunt Lizzie, who has outlived nine husbands, makes her home near the edge of Sapulpa with her "boy" Sam Pinkham, a mere youngster of some 70-odd years.

Ginsburg is 31 and married. Nathan is 34 and single.

BROTHERS, 15 AND 12 OPERATE WAR PLANT

FORT WAYNE, Ind., April 30—A tiny "war plant," operated by two young brothers, is producing delicately tooled airplane parts for the army air forces—and with apparent success.

Jerry Morrill, 15, and his 12-year-old brother, Giles, got their first sub-contract for bomber parts in February, 1942. The tool shop in the basement of their home was converted into a "war plant," and they turned out the order. Other orders followed and their records show the army has not rejected any parts.

Army air force officials here said their product, composed of eight parts and tooled to within two-thousandths to four-thousandths of an inch, was as good as that turned out by large industrial plants.

The brothers work in the shop after school and on weekends.

Ohioans Battle Axis

A U. S. HEAVY BOMBER BASE SOMEWHERE IN INDIA, April 11, (Delayed)—Three Ohio staff sergeants were aerial gunners in a bomber squadron participating recently in a 55-minute air battle over Mingladon airdrome in the Rangoon area.

The Ohioans are Lester V. Debut, 25, of Lancaster; Clarence W. Funk, 31, of Oberlin, and George Schneider, 24, of Springfield.

After four of the squadron's bombers scored hits in two of the airdromes, three runways, they headed home only to be attacked by 14 enemy fighters. In the fight, the gunners demonstrated their skill by destroying three enemy planes, probable destroying four and damaging four.

One of the American bombers was damaged slightly and all personnel escaped injury.

Get $6,000 At Cafe

and F coupons in the No. 2 ration book A, B, C and D stamps will expire at midnight tonight (Friday). Blue D, E and F coupons for processed fruits and vegetables also expire tonight, and minor changes in the canned goods point values also may be announced over the weekend.

Since the changes take place during the weekend that bridges the April and May meat stamps, the only valid stamps this Saturday will be the E's, at the rate of 16 points per person. On Sunday, however, the F stamps become valid, along with the E's, which will remain good until the end of the month.

Another change was to exempt from rationing bouillon cubes and meat extracts or concentrates. Canned bulk sausage and canned Vienna sausage came down a point. Permission was granted butchers to include in hamburger "heel" of round and skirts as well as other scraps and discards.

Commenting on the unchanged status of sausage (except minor changes on types containing less than 50 per cent meat), OPA said the over-abundance of sausage on the market was due to overproduction and not to abnormally low public demand. A press statement said any cut in sausage point values merely would encourage diversion of regular meat to sausage.

CLEVELAND, April 30 — New wholesale price ceilings for vegetables were established today on the basis of shipping point plus transportation costs in a regional Office of Price Administration order described as a "move to give the consumers the benefit of any future decreases in costs of bringing vegetables to market."

Edward C. Welsh, regional price executive, said the new wholesale price order was possible because Atlanta, Dallas and San Francisco OPA regions established dollars and cents F. O. B. shipping point ceiling which rolled back prices as compared with those established under the temporary freeze order in February.

Explaining the new terminal prices would decrease as shipping prices go down, Welsh said transportation costs would be less to northern consumers as harvest seasons moved northward.

Wholesale prices are based on percentage markups from base terminal prices at points of origin. Welsh asserted, adding that former terminal prices fixed ceilings into which were calculated shipping charges which were not flexible.

Airmen Leave Turkey

ANKARA, Turkey, April 30—Sixteen United States airmen and six British fliers landed in Turkey after forced landings on Turkish soil left Ankara today for Cairo. They were freed under an agreement among the Turkish government and belligerents providing for the release of interned Allied and Axis airmen.

Some Americans had been in Turkey since June 12, 1942, when they were forced down during an attack upon Rumanian oil field objectives.

Doctors, At School, Learn To Combat Tropical Ills

By REUEL S. MOORE, United Press Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Medical officers from civilian life, destined to serve in tropical countries overseas, are getting quick courses in tropical medicine at the Army medical center here.
They receive eight weeks of intensified work, three-quarters of which is devoted to tropical medicine and malaria. At least one officer who has had this training will be assigned to each overseas unit.
Newspapermen who visited the medical center and Walter Reed General Hospital saw the current class busy at work.
There were 240 members. The year's output will include about 1,200 officers. In addition, the school has trained about 30 professors from medical college, and will train a number of state health officials.
Dysentery a Menace
Malaria, though strictly speaking not a tropical disease, is found most often in tropical areas. Dysentery is another menace, while filaria is a danger in certain areas in the South Seas.
Malaria is fought with atabrine and plasmodin, synthetic substitutes for quinine, both as a preventive and a cure. Protective clothing, mosquito nets and screened living quarters are all protective measures, since malaria is mosquito-borne.

Dysentery is contracted through impure food and water. It is fought with sanitary measures.
Filaria is caused by minute worms transmitted by mosquitoes. The worms find their way into the blood stream and cause fever. Elephantiasis is a chronic stage of the disease. Antimony drugs are used as a cure, while screening and protective clothing are preventives.
All Foods Tested
At the Army veterinary school, also located at the medical center, are laboratories where all foods of animal origin destined for the troops are tested, including meats, eggs and dairy products. One of the new foods recently tested was canned "ham and eggs."

The Veterinary Corps not only watches out for the health of the soldier by inspecting his food, but also the health of all Army animals. Vaccines for preventing equine encephalomyelitis, horse sleeping sickness, made by the school staff, have protected all Army animals from this dreaded disease for more than four years. Brig. Gen. R. A. Keiser, chief of the Army Veterinary Corps, discovered this disease was transmitted by mosquitoes.

Subsequently, a vaccine was developed from chicken embryos. Some 1,200 live embryos are brought in from commercial chicken hatcheries at a time to make the vaccine, which is stored until needed for use.

Kentucky Derby Scramble Saturday Looms As A Natural

2 TOP FAVORITES ARE COUNT FLEET AND OCEAN WAVE

At Least 10 Horses Expected to Run in 69th Renewal of Classic

By SID FEDER (By Associated Press)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 30.—They have been calling this the "Street Car Derby" and the "Cotton Count Fleet" Derby around here for weeks but if this Saturday's scramble isn't a natural for the "bunion derby" then there's plenty of Bourbon in Derbytown.

Which there isn't. For, giving this 69th Kentucky Derby field a quick run-down, as the entry box opened this morning to settle the whole thing, you find the top two favorites and one of the choicest of the other hay-stokers troubled with foot aches and pains.

And this doesn't include Burnt Cork, the pride and joy of Rochester of radio fame who has no aches and pains except that the colt apparently is troubled with the "slows." That's a fatal trouble, usually in the Derby mile and a quarter.

But just take the top of the lot—Count Fleet. Twelve days ago he won the Wood Memorial after being all but cut down at the gate.

Next there is Ocean Wave, second choice to the Count in the Derby. He won the Blue Grass stakes nine days ago with a cracked heel. Then he waltzed in with the Derby trial mile by nine lengths with the same ailment, only that time it was a little tougher to take.

Next, there is Slide Rule. He pulled up sore after a workout three weeks ago, but he's come out of it.

The betting is 1 to 5 around here the Wave is ready to roll when the band plays "My Old Kentucky Home" for the 10 or a dozen colts and the 50,000 expected two-buck bettors on Saturday. If he is, you're going to see some fun.

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, April 30.—Don't be surprised if you see a lot of pros playing football in the Western conference next fall (and no wise-cracks now). The tip is that out that the Big Ten is about to okay the former play-for-pay who are sent to the colleges by the armed services for training. That may not help Wisconsin, for, even a little bit. The Badger campus is housing a radio training school, WAVES, Marines, SPARS and some pre-flight students but has been rejected as a site for the V-12 basic program—the one which permits intercollegiate competition.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

The Reds need only three more victories and they'll have the National league pennant practically cinched. In each of the two years they won the pennant, 1939, and 1940, they won seven of their first 10 games. The count so far is 4 and 3. When Jack LaVelle, one of the best football scouts in the business, tried to duplicate the blanks used for Notre Dame scouting reports, the printer asked $95 for 100 sets. Which gives you an idea how much information the Irish get.

OVERBRIDING HIS HAND

When comedian Bob Hope was playing golf and selling war bonds in Fort Worth, Tex., the other day, AP Sports Scribe Harold Ratliff stood by complaining that the high wind was about to blow his hat off. "Why don't you pull it down tighter?" someone asked. "Scared to?" he replied. "If I raised my hand above my hips I might discover I had pledged myself to buy $15,000 worth of bonds."

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—Irate California chicken growers are angrily demanding whose raw is the most important—that of a chicken which lays eggs and furnishes meat for victory or that of an imbibor who needs a little liquor to wetten his craw. They insist that with the chickens of California suffering severely from lack of proteins in their feed, empty ships are coming back from Australia laden with whisky when they could be carrying proper chicken food from that country.

McCarthy Now Has Chance To Prove He's Top Pilot

By DILLON GRAHAM, AP Features Sports Editor

NEW YORK—This is the year Joe McCarthy can silence his critics. A considerable number of fans, while admitting Joe has been an unusually successful pilot, have felt that any manager could win pennants with a club like the Yankees. They have been reluctant to deal out too much praise to Marse Joe.

Of course, with the majority of baseball-goers, McCarthy already rates as one of the two or three top managers in the majors. The dissenters are, in effect, putting this question up to the plump Yankee maestro this year: "Now, bud, what're you going to do about it?"

The Cardinals knocked the men of McCarthy back on their posteriors last fall and the war has succeeded in breaking up the Yankees. McCarthy no longer has a squad of stars or invincibles. Only one regular infielder and one regular outfielder remain from his championship club of last year. It isn't a hand-picked squad of aces.

It's a club that will need real direction. And those who haven't climbed on the McCarthy bandwagon are asking Joe to prove himself—to show whether he can win a championship with a crew of rookies and transfers—to show his ability as a strategist and a handler of men. If Joe can meet the challenge, his critics will join the McCarthy marching and chowder club.

To start with most clubs were better conditioned for the get-away than the Yankees. Those cold ocean winds at Asbury Park didn't help in getting the players in shape. And the Yankees took more defeats in the spring exhibition games than in many a year.

The outfield situation was such that McCarthy had to convert a pitcher, Johnny Lindell, into a fly-chaser. In place of his seven-year stand-out, Joe DiMaggio, McCarthy has Stormy Weatherly, only a fair performer by comparison, in centerfield.

The left side of the infield is bulwarked by recruits. A minor league second baseman, George Strinewitz, is at shortstop, and a shortstop, Bill Johnson, is at third. Nick Ethen, a chap who would hardly have attracted the Yankees in normal times, is at first base, a purchase from the Phillies.

PUT VANDER MEER IN ROLE OF NO. 1 LEAGUE PITCHER

Reds' Hurler Has Allowed Only 2 Runs, 12 Hits In 29 Innings

By JUDSON BAILEY Associated Press Sports Writer

Pitching has been the prize product of the major leagues this spring and scintillating performances have been piled one on top of another. But there would be no argument if the question were asked, "who is the outstanding hurler to date?"

The answer is Lefty John Vander Meer of the Cincinnati Reds. The New Jersey Dutchman is slated for early induction into the armed forces and seems determined to paint his farewell to the National league in figures that will be remembered.

He has gone to the mound three times in eight days, pitched 29 innings and allowed only two runs and 12 hits. He beat Mort Cooper of the St. Louis Cardinals 1-0 in 11 innings on opening day and four days later himself was defeated 1-0 by Howie Pollet of the Cards.

Yet he was back again yesterday with another effective effort, this time turning back the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-1 on six hits. He had a shutout till the ninth, when the Bucs finally bunched three blows for a run.

Third Place Tie
This triumph kept the Reds tied with the Cards for third place in the senior circuit as St. Louis slipped over a 4-3 twelve-inning conquest of the Chicago Cubs. The world champions were beaten 3-1 by Rookie Eddie Hanyzewski going into the last half of the ninth, but came up with one of their familiar rallies to tie the score on a two-run pinch single by Coaker Triplett. Then in the 12th Ray Sanders singled across the deciding run with his only hit of the game.

The Brooklyn Dodgers completed a sweep of their series with the Phillies on the gift of two unearned runs for a 4-3 victory. The Boston Braves vaulted into second place back of the Dodgers by beating the New York Giants 5-2 behind the six-hit hurling of Charley (Red) Barrett.

In the American league, the New York Yankees were forced into 12 innings by the Boston Red Sox, but won 7-3 with a final four run blast.

The Washington Senators maintained their grasp on third place with a 5-1 decision over the Philadelphia Athletics. Bob Johnson batted in three runs against his former teammates.

In the other game of the day the Detroit Tigers were out hit but beat the St. Louis Browns 3-2.

HANSELL PERFORMS IN DRAKE RELAYS

Elliott Hansell, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hansell of Salem, and a former Quaker athlete, is wearing a couple of handsome medals following performances of his Miami university track team at the Drake relays last Saturday.

Hansell ran in the sprint medley and the mile relay, being lead-off man in both events, running the 440 in each case. And, in each case, they were defeated by a team of Texans.

On Saturday the Miami lads will compete with other Ohio collegians in a meet at Bowling Green. Hansell expects to run the 100, the 220, the half and possibly in the mile relay.

Hansell, a sophomore at Miami, was graduated from Salem High in 1941. He starred in track and football while wearing the Quaker colors.

FREMONT—This is the fourth year for 90-year-old John Homan, the city's only blacksmith, still at his anvil after 74 years of service.

Mr. Homan, who plays a sharp game of pinochle, uses glasses at his work, but does not need them otherwise.

A widower for eight years, the blacksmith does his own housework and tends his own garden. When his turn comes to entertain his pinochle club, he sets a neat refreshment table.

Tribe Opens 4-Game Series With Tigers

DETROIT, April 30.—Jim Bagby hurls against the Detroit Tigers for the third time in 10 days as the Cleveland Indians open a four-game series here today. His opponent is southpaw Hal Newhouse.

Lanky Jim hurled two impressive victories in the opening series with the Tigers, winning 1 to 0 and 4 to 1.

The Tribesmen experienced their first postponement of the season yesterday when weather prevented the third game of the series with the White Sox.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Capt. Walter F. REDS TO FACE SOLDIERS TODAY

ST. LOUIS, April 30.—Cincinnati's Reds engage the soldiers of Lambert field in a twilight exhibition today in preparation for their weekend series with the World Champion at St. Louis Cardinals.

The game is the first of a half dozen the Reds have booked with service teams. Vernon Stone and Bob Malloy are Cincinnati's pitchers.

Yesterday's 6-1 win over the Pirates in Pittsburgh gave the Reds two out of three there and Johnny Vander Meer a record of allowing two runs and 12 hits in 29 innings. Johnny had the Pirates blanked on three hits until the ninth.

Bucky Walters and Morton Cooper are tomorrow's pitchers.

College Athletic Programs More Certain Than Year Ago

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 30.—Continuation of college athletics is more certain now than it was a year ago, Major John L. Griffith, Athletic commissioner of the Western conference, declared today.

Griffith said he based his conclusions on several generally known facts and others which he was not at liberty to disclose.

"For one thing," he said, "the public knows now that our college athletic facilities designed for peacetime can be of value to the war effort. The testimony of boys likes Michigan's Tommy Harmon, who credited his football legs for his survival after his plane crashed in a jungle, is helping to prove this."

"These boys say their sports conditioning enables them to get out of tight places alive and is helpful to them in actual fighting."

Griffith said that all Western conference schools, as well as Notre Dame and several other midwestern independents, were making sure their spring sports programs go through.

"Our greatest contribution will be not morale, or recreation, or play, but conditioning and training men for the armed forces," he said.

California's Democratic party was organized in Portsmouth Square, San Francisco, in 1849.

SPORT CHATTER

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, April 30.—Don't be surprised if you see a lot of pros playing football in the Western conference next fall (and no wise-cracks now). The tip is that out that the Big Ten is about to okay the former play-for-pay who are sent to the colleges by the armed services for training. That may not help Wisconsin, for, even a little bit. The Badger campus is housing a radio training school, WAVES, Marines, SPARS and some pre-flight students but has been rejected as a site for the V-12 basic program—the one which permits intercollegiate competition.

The Reds need only three more victories and they'll have the National league pennant practically cinched. In each of the two years they won the pennant, 1939, and 1940, they won seven of their first 10 games. The count so far is 4 and 3. When Jack LaVelle, one of the best football scouts in the business, tried to duplicate the blanks used for Notre Dame scouting reports, the printer asked $95 for 100 sets. OVERBRIDING HIS HAND

When comedian Bob Hope was playing golf and selling war bonds in Fort Worth, Tex., the other day, AP Sports Scribe Harold Ratliff stood by complaining that the high wind was about to blow his hat off. SACRAMENTO, Cal.—Irate California chicken growers are angrily demanding whose raw is the most important—that of a chicken which lays eggs and furnishes meat for victory or that of an imbibor who needs a little liquor to wetten his craw. They insist that with the chickens of California suffering severely from lack of proteins in their feed, empty ships are coming back from Australia laden with whisky when they could be carrying proper chicken food from that country.

IOWA CITY, Ia.—More than 70 men, the largest all-cadet squad ever to report for a varsity sport at the Iowa pre-flight school here, answered Lt. Wes Schumacher's call for baseball candidates.

McCarthy Now Has Chance To Prove He's Top Pilot

By DILLON GRAHAM, AP Features Sports Editor

NEW YORK—This is the year Joe McCarthy can silence his critics. A considerable number of fans, while admitting Joe has been an unusually successful pilot, have felt that any manager could win pennants with a club like the Yankees. They have been reluctant to deal out too much praise to Marse Joe.

Of course, with the majority of baseball-goers, McCarthy already rates as one of the two or three top managers in the majors. The dissenters are, in effect, putting this question up to the plump Yankee maestro this year: "Now, bud, what're you going to do about it?"

The Cardinals knocked the men of McCarthy back on their posteriors last fall and the war has succeeded in breaking up the Yankees. McCarthy no longer has a squad of stars or invincibles. Only one regular infielder and one regular outfielder remain from his championship club of last year. It isn't a hand-picked squad of aces.

It's a club that will need real direction. And those who haven't climbed on the McCarthy bandwagon are asking Joe to prove himself—to show whether he can win a championship with a crew of rookies and transfers—to show his ability as a strategist and a handler of men. If Joe can meet the challenge, his critics will join the McCarthy marching and chowder club.

To start with most clubs were better conditioned for the get-away than the Yankees. Those cold ocean winds at Asbury Park didn't help in getting the players in shape. And the Yankees took more defeats in the spring exhibition games than in many a year.

The outfield situation was such that McCarthy had to convert a pitcher, Johnny Lindell, into a fly-chaser. In place of his seven-year stand-out, Joe DiMaggio, McCarthy has Stormy Weatherly, only a fair performer by comparison, in centerfield.

The left side of the infield is bulwarked by recruits. A minor league second baseman, George Strinewitz, is at shortstop, and a shortstop, Bill Johnson, is at third. Nick Ethen, a chap who would hardly have attracted the Yankees in normal times, is at first base, a purchase from the Phillies.

Only Joe Gordon at second, Charlie Keller in left and Bill Dickey behind the plate are carry-overs from last year. Red Ruffing, the veteran of the pitching staff, and Vernon Gomez, a once-great lefty, are gone.

Five changes in the infield and outfield. Never since McCarthy started that four-year stretch of world championships in 1936 has Joe had to work with such a made-over club.

McCarthy seldom stood pat on his squad. Every year he'd quietly ease one or two fellows out and replace them with talent from the Yankee farms—fellows who were shipping or chaps whose temperaments didn't fit

DEATH GOES NATIVE

By MAX LONG

SYNOPSIS

When Hastings Hoyt, solitude-seeking bachelor, sailed into the cove at Waimaka in Hawaii, he expected to find only simple natives living there. But on shore, he discovered a group of twelve white people "going native" (their scholarly looking leader, Mr. Budd, explained) "to escape the world's turmoil." They include Mr. and Mrs. Bronson and Bessie Delmar, collaborators on a play; Josephine and her husband, Thornton West, composer of symphonies; Elaine—an exquisite, vaguely mysterious young blonde—who shares a cottage with elderly, outspoken Mrs. Latham and her physician-son; Turva Masic, whose dark beauty is marred by a long scar on her cheek; and Herb, general handyman for the group. Hoyt was presented to them all, except the Rawsons, who were absent for the day. He sensed intrigue when Bronson Delmar familiarly placed his arm about Josephine West, despite her husband's obvious irritation. That evening he overheard the group on Budd's porch denounce Delmar's drunken version of his play as "despicable," and saw Bessie Delmar fly into a rage when she discovered her husband had omitted her name from the manuscript. Later, Delmar deliberately insulted Hoyt who lost his temper and attacked the playwright. Hoyt was knocked unconscious and, when revived, remarked that he was an elephant for holding grudges. On board his boat later, Hoyt discovers that someone has raided his liquor cabinet. The deck is littered with glass. A flashlight reveals Delmar, lying face down in the bottom of the ice-locker—a fish spear buried in his back. Hoyt recognizes the spear as his own initialed one. Fearing he will be accused of the murder, he returns it to its accustomed rack before leaving to acquaint the colonists of his gruesome find. On shore, he meets Elaine walking in her sleep and musing something about "Peter" and "blood." Dr. Latham gently awakened her and took her to his mother. Budd thinks Hoyt has hallucinations when informed of the shocking discovery. They surprise Bessie returning from Hoyt's boat. She explains that Bronson had gone there to borrow some liquor, taking their play with him. She is worried at not finding him. A groan coming from behind the fishing canoes leads them to Herb who has received a nasty blow from an unknown assailant. On the boat, they can find no trace of broken glass—or Delmar's body! Hoyt is the narrator.

brain condition. But one of them might well be the murderer, hiding behind the belief of the others that I had seen nothing. I was tempted to let it go at that, since they seemed satisfied, for I certainly did not want to be mixed up in the murder. My muddling about whether or not a spearhead was in Delmar's back had given me trouble enough. Furtively I began groping behind me to make sure the spear was in its cleats.

"You're feeling better now, aren't you?" Budd asked.

I opened my mouth to make some reply but the words never came. In that second I discovered that my fish spear was gone from the cleats. My head was throbbing wildly. I put my hand to it and found it damp with perspiration.

Dr. Latham took firm hold of my arm, led me down to the cabin and saw me into my bunk.

"You'll be all right in the morning," he said kindly. "Don't get up—just go to sleep and get rested. I'll put out the lantern."

I lay in my bunk, sweating over that fish spear, until the voices in the canoes grew faint. The murderer must have taken the spear when he came back to get rid of the body and the glass. But why?

For evidence? There was only one person in the world against whom that evidence could be used. That was the person whose initials, H.B.H., were stamped on the shell of the haft socket; it could only be used against me.

When I was sure the colonists had had time to disperse I rushed back on deck with my flashlight to search for the spear. I went straight to the cabin top to make sure I had not been mistaken. The spear was not there, but, flashing my light along the cleats, I saw something which stopped my breath: a few drops of blood and a smear. I remember Herb wiping his hand on his shorts as if he had touched something sticky on the cabin top. What was he going to think when he found the red smear on his white shorts?

I knew what had happened. In my frenzied haste to get the spear into place, even though I had swished it in the water, I had not been careful about the blood on my hands. The murderer had not been careful enough, either—he had overlooked the drops on the cabin top in his clean-up job. It occurred to me for the first time that he had probably helped himself to my deck swab and bucket, and I hurried to the forward locker where they were kept. Sure enough, both were wet. I played my beam further into the locker, hoping against hope to find the fish spear, and saw that my spare anchor was gone. Also a length of line cut off with a sharp knife. That set me looking for the fish knife I kept in a strap holder on the side of the cabin. The fish knife, too, was gone.

CHAPTER TEN
I stared stupidly at him, then grabbed the lantern from Thornton's hand and ran to hold it over the locker. It was empty and clean and wet. I felt the others draw closer around me.

"It's gone!" I cried in a panic, looking from one to another of them. "While I was off to report to you someone got it out of here." I bent over the locker again. "See? Someone's washed away the blood. The drain plug is out and it's still wet, too."

Budd's hand came down on my shoulder in fatherly fashion. "That's all right, Mr. Hoyt. We know you think you saw all that." He turned to Dr. Latham, who was reaching to feel my pulse. "You suspect a concussion? Nausea is a symptom, I take it?"

Dr. Latham nodded. He let go my wrist and placed a cool palm on my forehead as I stood there too confused to speak.

"Perhaps a slight concussion," he said gravely. "But you aren't clammy, so it can't be so bad."

Budd said, "I imagine the liquor he drank when he came aboard hit him rather hard."

Dr. Latham reproved me: "Liquor after that blow was the worst thing you could have taken. Not another drop, understand. You must get to bed now and be very quiet. I think you'll be all right by morning if you obey orders."

Then I heard Josephine West's clear voice saying in distress: "Oh, I do hope my giving you coffee wasn't bad for you, Mr. Hoyt!"

She was alongside, in a canoe which was scraping the side of the sampan. With her was Turva Masic, her pale gray eyes wide and solemn. Herb was squatting on the deck, leaning toward me and had apparently told them what was going on. Thornton must have seen them then for the first time, for he said impatiently:

"You girls shouldn't have come out here."

"Well, why wouldn't we?" Josephine retorted. "All that shouting for Bronson, and seeing you men coming out here so mysteriously!"

Turva shuddered. "I'm glad it was only a dream," she said. "Why were they so anxious to establish that there had been no murder? My mind was so busy with this problem that my recollection of the next few minutes is hazy. I know the two girls came aboard, asking if there was anything they could do for me, and that Herb demanded their attention on the plea that it was he who 'nearly got killed.' They investigated that, I remember, examining the lump on his head and asking in the same breath:

"But who hit you?"

Herb took his hand from its resting place on the top of the cabin, seemed to find something on it, and wiped his fingers on the front of his shorts before he glanced over his shoulder at me and said: "You just come along, Mr. Hoyt. I'll go down with you and see you all fixed up for the night."

I shook him off, suddenly desperate. "Listen! I'm not delirious. I know what I saw. And I'll find splinters of glass to prove he broke a bottle of my Scotch on the deck."

I went over to the side of the cabin and swung the lantern close to the deck. I saw Dr. Latham motion to Budd to let me alone. Herb helpfully began looking beyond the ice locker where there had never been any glass. I bent low and searched the deck with more and more care, but could find not one fragment of glass even though I rubbed my hand over the painted surface. Finally I retreated to lean against the cabin top, completely outdone.

"This yours?" Herb offered my flashlight.

I took it with a nod of thanks. Thornton, Budd and the doctor gathered around me and the girls edged into the group.

"You see, there's no glass," Dr. Latham said quietly. "Details like that are often vivid in hallucinations."

They all looked like very kindly people concerned about my supposed
